Hello ken

The heritage community marching band has been in existence since 1991. This band affords the opportunity for inner city kids to be a part of a marching band. A point of interest the band directors at present were once members of the Heritage Community Band. They were members since 5th grade, well to college on a heritage band scholarship and have returned to direct the band. We do a lot more than teach music, we teach study skills, self esteem building, test taking skill and much more.

We pay for our students to take the ACT test. We assist them in their pursuit of a college's education. One of our dreams was to one day having a school of the arts. We now have a school that operates every weekend, and every day during the summers. The school is open to students six years old and older who want to learn how to play a music instrument. All of our programs are free of charge. All of our students can read music and will always greet you with a big smile. The students learn everything from keyboard, to violin, viola, cellos, every percussion instrument, woodwinds, brass and low brass. This is our story, as fast as I can tell you.
